Louyse Siegel

Associate

Louyse has been licensed since 2019. Before deciding to pursue a legal career, Louyse spent many years home schooling her children while supporting her husband and the United States Marine Corps. After graduating from law school, she was chosen for a fellowship position at the St. Mary's University Center for Legal and Social Justice. While there, she helped create and manage a platform where low-income individuals facing eviction and foreclosure could seek legal assistance. When she's not in the office, you are likely to find Louyse on a sailboat or in the theatre.
